HELLO

Kelli Jo Photo is a farm + portrait photographer based in Eastern Nebraska. I'm Kelli, the one behind the camera, and I can't wait to work with you. I'm very passionate about working with people who share my love of country living and small town life. My style of photography utilizes the true beauty and colors of nature to create clean, crisp photos.

I have a deep understanding of the farm and ranch lifestyle. Growing up on a row crop farm in Northeast Nebraska I've walked beans, disced fields, serviced pivots, sorted cattle, and scooped bins. I'm not afraid to get a little dust on my camera to capture the perfect moment. I know how valuable time is on the farm. I'm an expert at capturing the moment, without stopping productivity on an operation.

“Kelli is an outstanding photographer, clearly, but it is her understanding of Midwestern agriculture, deep affinity for the land and incredible eye for detail that makes her work stand out. Often there is a gap between artistry and what is needed to use in agricultural marketing but this is not the case with Kelli. She works independently and delivered precisely what we needed for our projects and much more.”
